“Faith, Money, Earth and Divestment”

Rev. Fletcher Harper, Director of GreenFaith

Some call this the watershed moment for climate change.

How you invest your money as an individual, faith community, diocese or judicatory matters. Numerous religious institutions are divesting from fossil fuels including: World Council of Churches, United Church of Christ, and Unitarian Universalists. Presbyterian Church USA and the Methodist Conference are considering divestment and a growing number of local Episcopal dioceses and congregations of various traditions including Friend’s Meeting Houses and Catholic institutions are joining the divestment/reinvestment climate justice call. Come learn why and how.
